There will be a short period of maintenance on the morning of Tuesday 7th December 2010 8am GMT which will affect users of this website and our webchat.

We apologise in advance for the inconvenience and hope to have the maintenance completed within 2 hours.

We will let you all know on the network leading up to this maintenance and of course afterwards.

This will not affect users connected to the network via normal IRC Clients / other webchats just this website and it's webchat.
